Veterans Affairs Adapted Housing

Helping Hands Living Solutions would like to support disabled Veterans by modifying homes to meet accessibility needs. The Veterans Administration has grants like the VA's Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) or Home Improvements and Structural Alterations (HISA) grants, to assist disabled Veterans adapt their homes. We have completed the process to be a VA builder, and have familiarized ourselves with the various grants and benefits offered to support Veteran home adaptations.

Our unique value as a VA Builder is that we approach from our perspective as Aging in Place Specialists. We work every day with our customers providing adaptive design solutions to meet specific accessibility needs. This provides us with familiarity and access to products that more closely match up with the needs of each Veteran and the unique characteristics of their home. Our best value as a builder is our ability to customize and design a complete solution to cover the Veterans needs today as well as provide a plan for the future.

Specially Adapted Housing (SAH) Grant: This grant helps severely disabled veterans build, buy, or modify a home to meet their adaptive needs. This can cover features like ramps, wider hallways, roll-in showers, and accessible kitchens.

Special Housing Adaptation (SHA) Grant: This grant assists veterans with certain service-connected disabilities in adapting an existing home or buying a home that has already been modified.

Temporary Residence Adaptation (TRA) Grant: Provides grants for accessibility modifications to a family member's home where a veteran is temporarily living, which can be combined with either an SAH or SHA grant.

Home Improvements and Structural Alterations (HISA) Grant: Offers medically necessary home improvements and structural alterations to address the veteran's disabilities, even if they are not service-connected.

How can Helping Hands Living Solutions help you? We would start with a free home consultation, where we meet with you in your home to understand your specific needs as well as the current environment in the home. If you are eligible for a grant from the VA, we will discuss what they require as Minimum Property Requirements (MPRs), and then review Recommended Adaptations (RAs). Our goal is to look at what is needed and then to match that into the various VA Housing Adaptation grants.
